		The mission of The Access Centre is to alleviate the effects of poverty through advocacy, awareness and action	The Men's Counselling Program has been in the community for 9 years, previously through SOVAS. When SOVAS closed it's doors in June, The Access Centre took on this program to ensure that men who have experienced abuse in their lives still had a safe place to go for counselling services. The program provides free and confidential counselling services to men who have been victims of abuse. We are looking for sustainable grants to ensure this much sought after service remains in this community. 	The Pentiction Centre for Exceptional Learning	Our non-profit Learning Centre will support, educate, and challenge students with high-functioning autism by augmenting BC Ministry of Education curriculum with life skills and social skills in an understanding and caring sensory-sensitive facility.	We are here to support children in kindergarten through grade 12, diagnosed with high-functioning autism, who have been unable to find success (social or academic) in traditional brick-and-mortar schools. Our small "sensory-sensitive" learning centre in south Pentiction was specifically designed to support 21 students. We have seven small classrooms, a gym with a climbing wall, four "sensory rooms", reduced lighting, sound-absorbing materials, & a design that reduces anxiety & visual clutter.
